Siam Legal International Announces Thailand Privilege Visa Promotions Update

August 28, 2026

Bangkok, Thailand - August 28, 2026 -
Siam Legal International, a law firm in Thailand, is highlighting that the Thailand Privilege Next Member family promotion has been extended to align with the Bronze membership's existing September 30, 2026 deadline, bringing both offers to the same date for applicants still weighing their options. The firm is an authorized General Sales and Services Agent for the program and has assisted foreign nationals with Thai legal and immigration matters for more than 22 years.

The Next Member family promotion allows an eligible family member to join an existing Platinum, Diamond, or Reserve membership at a promotional rate of THB 750,000. Standard Next Member rates are normally much higher, ranging from THB 1,000,000 to THB 2,000,000, and Siam Legal International confirms the promotional rate has now been extended through September 30, 2026. For members adding more than one dependent, such as a spouse and children, the reduced per-person rate applies individually to each additional family member.

The Bronze membership tier is priced at THB 650,000 for a five-year term and remains available through September 30, 2026, with no further extension currently announced. Bronze membership includes airport VIP fast-track services and around-the-clock member assistance, features aimed at reducing immigration bureaucracy and common friction points for applicants relocating, retiring, or establishing a longer-term base in Thailand.

Eligibility across both promotions requires every applicant to hold a valid foreign passport and pass the program's standard background checks. Dependents must also provide official relationship documentation, such as a certified marriage certificate for a spouse or a birth certificate for children, translated into English where necessary.

For applicants who are new to the program, the core member and eligible family members may submit their applications together rather than in sequence. Family members become eligible under the membership only once the core applicant's background check has cleared, though submitting the applications together does not require family members to wait for that clearance before filing. All application files must be formally submitted within the promotional window in order to qualify. Siam Legal International does not charge applicants for its assistance with eligibility confirmation, document preparation, or application submission, and the program's own membership fee is due only once an application has been approved, rather than at the time of submission.

Rex Baay, Senior Immigration Consultant and Operations Manager at Siam Legal International, said the aligned deadline reflects a broader shift in how families approach long-term residency planning in Thailand. "More families are choosing to plan a move together rather than having one member establish residency first and add others later, and a single deadline supports that approach," said Baay.

Thailand Privilege Card Co., Ltd. recently presented Siam Legal International with a 2026 sales performance award, recognizing its standing among the program's General Sales and Services Agents.

Siam Legal International serves as an official partner for the Thailand Privilege program, confirming eligibility, preparing documentation, and managing applications on behalf of applicants ahead of program deadlines. Additional background on both promotions is available in Siam Legal's Thailand Privilege Visa promotions update, a video overview of the program's current terms.

Foreign nationals considering either the Bronze membership or the Next Member family promotion have until September 30, 2026, to confirm eligibility and submit required documentation.

Siam Legal International provides legal and immigration services to foreign and local nationals in Thailand, covering residency planning, property law, corporate law, business law, and litigation. The firm has offices in Bangkok, Chiang Mai, Phuket, and Pattaya and has operated in Thailand for more than 22 years.
