August 05, 2026

RAPID CITY, SD - August 05, 2026 -
EnPowered Business, a digital marketing agency serving Rapid City and the surrounding region, announces its commitment to supporting local educational initiatives through partnership with Main Street Square's Splash Lab Summer STEAM Series. The agency recognizes the importance of fostering creativity and innovation in young minds through science, technology, engineering, art, and mathematics programs.

The Tuesday morning educational series, which takes place at Main Street Square, represents the type of Community Gathering In Rapid City that strengthens connections between local businesses and families. The program offers hands-on activities designed to spark curiosity in school-aged children while demonstrating practical applications of STEAM concepts.

"Supporting educational programs that inspire the next generation aligns perfectly with our mission of empowering growth and innovation," said Carol Suzuki, Community Outreach Director at EnPowered Business. "As a company that specializes in digital technology and creative solutions, we understand the value of nurturing these skills early. These programs help children develop the problem-solving abilities that will serve them throughout their lives."

The summer series includes diverse activities ranging from building birdhouses to exploring air and space concepts, creating sensory tubes, and experimenting with various materials. Each Event In Rapid City within the series provides opportunities for children to engage with different aspects of STEAM education while enjoying interactive learning experiences.

EnPowered Business, known for its comprehensive digital marketing services including web design, search engine optimization, and brand management, views community involvement as essential to regional growth. The agency's support extends beyond financial contributions to include promoting awareness of educational opportunities through its digital platforms and networks.

The partnership exemplifies how local businesses can contribute to educational enrichment while strengthening community bonds. By supporting programs that combine learning with creativity, EnPowered Business Supporting Event In Rapid City demonstrates the company's investment in the area's future workforce and innovative potential.

"Digital marketing and STEAM education share common ground in their emphasis on creativity, analytical thinking, and problem-solving," added Suzuki. "When businesses invest in educational programs, they help create an environment where innovation thrives. This benefits not only the children participating but the entire community."

The initiative reflects broader trends in corporate community engagement, where businesses recognize their role in supporting educational programs that develop critical skills. As technology continues to shape various industries, programs that introduce young people to technical and creative concepts become increasingly valuable.

EnPowered Business provides digital marketing solutions to businesses throughout the Black Hills region.
